Description

Iolar is the leading translation company in the region of South-East Europe. It provides its clients a range of services, from translation of difficult documentation to software localisation packages for the languages of this geographic area. Apart from this, Iolar specialises in the introduction of computer-assisted translation solutions into translation processes. The implementation of the translation standard ISO 17100 proves Iolar's dedication to the quality of its services. Iolar was founded in 1998 and today it employs 40 highly-skilled linguists and engineers. Its headquarters are based in Ljubljana, and it has subsidiaries in Maribor, Zagreb (Croatia), Belgrade (Serbia) and Graz (Austria). Besides translation services, Iolar provides translation technologies and international digital marketing services
